

Get a sneak peek of our upcoming exhibition 'New Days, New Works'

Come intrigued. Leave inspired.

Get a glimpse of our upcoming exhibition at Mint Museum Uptown

The Mint Museum presents an installation of new and never-before-seen objects from its permanent collection in the upcoming exhibition New Days, New Works. It is a dynamic exhibition that includes powerful photography, sculptures from international artists, vivid paintings, statement fashion pieces, and everyday objects that evoke emotions and a new perspective for a new day. The exhibition is also a celebration of the collectors whose keen eyes and generosity make our museum possible.

Watch

Go on a nature-trail adventure without leaving home with our latest Creativity Kit

Purchase a Mint mask to support your favorite museum and stay safe

Quilted masks with the Mint logo are now available in the store at Mint Museum Uptown for $16 each. The store is open Tuesday-Saturday 10 AM-4 PM, and Sunday 1-5 PM.

The Mint Museum is sparking artistic power on hot summer days with its at-home Creativity Kits. Each kit, starting at $30 for Mint members, includes all the art materials needed for the project, a link to a video tutorial, plus printed instructions, related art prints featuring works from The Mint Museum collection, and a grab bag of assorted craft materials.

Curators' Picks

We are sharing pieces from our galleries and collections to help bring peace and inspiration while we all practice social distancing. Our curators have chosen these pieces to give you the museum experience from home. To see more #CuratorsPicks, follow us on our social media channels.

Flight, Barr, and Barr (Worcester, England, 1813–40). Pair of Spill Vases, circa 1820, soft-paste porcelain (enamel decoration, gilding). Estate of James E. Meyer. T0158.31.1-2

Pair of Spill Vases. This pair of spill vases was made at the Flight, Barr, and Barr porcelain manufactory in Worcester, England. The factory was renowned for the superb ornamentation of its wares, many of which featured elaborate gilding patterns and finely painted landscapes. According to an inscription on its underside, the vase on the left is painted with "Niton Church, Isle of Wight," while the right vase's view is described as "Cardiff Castle, Glamorganshire." Spill vases were small, cylindrical in shape, and typically sold in pairs. They would have been displayed on the mantelpiece and held rolled-up paper sticks, or spills, used for lighting a fire. The current examples are on view in New Days, New Works at Mint Museum Uptown.

Don't Miss This

- North Carolina film festivals cultivate community and advocacy, and plan to continue this fall despite COVID-19. (Queen City Nerve)
- Join OnQ Production July 25 at 3 PM for Christmas in July, a virtual summertime music session with the cast of OnQ creatives. Hear live music curated by Music Director Tim Scott Jr. and hosted by Artistic Director Quentin Talley in this virtual performance.
- He wrote his first song in third grade. Now 25, he's teaching others to love singing. (The Charlotte Observer)

Give us Your Feedback

Let us know what you're thinking, what you'd like to see more of, and how we can share more of The Mint Museum with the Charlotte community. Email us at digital@mintmuseum.org with your ideas and feedback.

North Carolina
Arts
Council
Fifty years of leadership

The Mint Museum | Mint Museum UPTOWN at Levine Center for the Arts, 500 S. Tryon St, Charlotte, NC 28202

About our service provider

Sent by digital@mintmuseum.org